Canyon is making the transition to seek industry

A town looking for industry is like a woman looking for a husband. With all her assets heightened to visibility, she must combine a certain aggressiveness with a willingness to compromise and enter the competition with scores of others flaunting the same abilities.

As Canyon makes the transition from the dowdy old-maidism of recent years in terms of interest in attracting industry, city leaders are finding they have entered a highly competitive field, a field even more competitive than the husband market.

The transition from an attitude of ambivalence toward industrial development is still ongoing in Canyon and the man most singularly responsible for providing impetus to the transition believes that Canyon has awakened to the fact that its growth, perhaps even its stability, is tied to industrial development of sorts.

David West, vice president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and executive vice president of the First National Bank, now says unequivocally that Canyon is openly courting industry.

"I'm confident that the chamber of commerce and city commission want it," he said.

The reasons for a resurgence in interest in luring industry to Canyon are obvious: industry pays taxes, industry brings people, people buy groceries and clothes and pay taxes, and industry has a tendency to attract other industry.

"Just suppose an industry locates here like that Santa Fe (Railway track welding) shop," West Said. "Think of the tax that'll bring into the county and the school district. That's keeping our taxes from going up."

In a negative approach, West said "suppose we said 'no' to industry.

"First, we'd cut out all those things (above) and second we'd be a shopping center for Amarillo and I honestly don't think the population would like to see that."

In saying "yes" to industry, Canyon must, like the husband-minded woman, begin flaunting her assets.

And, assets Canyon has.

Ticking them off on his fingers, West points to:

"Location near a major railroad and major highways. Right now we have a potential site bordered by a railroad and a highway. We could have two major interstate systems going around Canyon.

"We have as fine a labor market as you could have anywhere with the university.

"Dr. (Wallace) Johnston (head of the WTSU industrial education department) told a recent seminar that they can train and educate people according to the needs of industry right here at West Texas.

"Besides supplying an already established unskilled labor force in the students, we can further supply supervisory labor or middle management.

"We have a good supply of natural energy — electricity and gas — to offer industry.

"We have plenty of sites ideally located for industrial use."

With the assets listed, the problem according to West is finding an industry which matches up with Canyon's potential.

"A study made by Southwestern Public Service Co. has shown we're suitable for clothing manufacture or stock trailer manufacturing and for some of various types of metal industries and plastics industries," West said.

A basic tenet in West's beliefs about industrial development is that "good industry does not necessarily require gifts of land or tax breaks."

He said for most industries the prime reason for moving is not to find free land or tax breaks.

"Good industry pays its own way," he said.

Is committee for Carruth a hoax?

The apparent formation of an ad hoc committee to promote Dr. T. Paige Carruth as president of West Texas State University may be just the opposite, The News learned last week.

The News learned of the existence of the committee through a letter sent from Leo Wyoming, who asked for biographical information on Carruth, WTSU's vice president for student affairs.

Extensive research through official and unofficial organizations revealed evidence that Leo Wyoming may be the fictional creation of a wealthy Amarillo businessman.

A man who signed his name "Leo Wyoming" rented a post office box at the WTSU post office Thursday. The letter to The News bears a WTSU post office box number.

"I don't know any Leo Wyoming," Dr. Carruth declared Saturday.

Dr. Carruth said he feels the ad hoc committee, if in fact it does exist, "is out to do me no good."

He said he suspects Amarillo television station owner Stanley Marsh III may be behind the ad hoc committee in an effort to ensure he is not named president of WTSU.

Dr. Carruth's name was first mentioned as a presidential hopeful two weeks ago when five state legislators signed a letter to the board of regents of WTSU and the screening committee now considering applicants for the job urging Dr. Carruth's appointment.

Dr. Carruth said he is not surprised that a faction in Amarillo, including Marsh might try to ensure he is not named to the university presidency.

"There's no love between his group and mine," Dr. Carruth said.

Dr. Carruth and several other university sources said last week Marsh had been calling various campus offices in an effort to obtain biographical information concerning Dr. Carruth.

"I suspect Stanley Marsh is behind it," he declared.

The letter to The News states:

Dear Mr. Martin:

We would appreciate your sending to our committee any biographical information that you might have in your files or morgue that would concern Dean Carruth. We are requesting this information so that we can accurately prepare news releases and other informational data concerning Dean Carruth, his life and other activities.

If you would send whatever information you have we would appreciate it. Please send it to the above address. We are thanking you in advance.

Very truly yours,

Leo Wyoming, chairman

A university post office official who rented the postal box to the man purported to be Wyoming described the man:

"He's about 6 feet or 6-1. He didn't look like a student. He was red-faced like he'd been out in the sun. Sandy haired. Had on a suit like a flashy dresser."

Local officials say county merger plan not feasible, economical or needed

By CARROLL WILSON

Although Randall County officials were not emphatic in their rejection of State Rep. Ben Bynum's proposal that Potter and Randall counties be combined, they indicated last week they will not favor such a move.

State representative of the county, Bryan Poff, also expressed opposition to the plan.

Bynum, young legislator from Amarillo, reiterated Wednesday his proposal of two years ago that the two counties be combined into a single large county with a combined courthouse in Amarillo.

"We all know deep down in our hearts that we don't need 254 counties in the state," Bynum is quoted as saying Wednesday. "Amarillo is divided into two counties and that is ultimately going to impede the economic progress of the area."

Bynum spoke Wednesday to members of the Panhandle County Judges and Commissioners Association in Amarillo, at a meeting attended by a number of Randall County officials.

"I wasn't for it then, and I'm still not for it," said Representative Poff after hearing of Bynum's suggestion. Poff made reference to Bynum's same proposal two years ago. "I don't think it's a very good idea."

County Judge Woody Pond was also against the proposal.

"Why should we?" he asked. "It's real simple to go down to Austin and get something passed in the legislature to combine the counties, but did you ever think about the cost? Transferring records just in the clerk's office alone would be the durndest cost to the people in both areas."

Pond said the bigger the county becomes the more it costs to run it.

"We probably need some reform in county government," he said, "but I think this is a little drastic and I don't think it'll ever happen."

Pond admitted he thinks "we do need to revise our tax structure and appraisals and get them more nearly equal in all government institutions."

The judge said he is not now planning to initiate a study of Bynum's proposal.

"I don't have any plans at this time and I don't think the commissioners do," he said.

A South Amarillo attorney, Robert Simpson, in a letter to commissioners in both counties last week urged that a study be initiated to determine whether a merger of the two counties would be feasible and economically advantageous.

Both Bynum and Simpson cited economies which would be made in the combination of the counties as a reason for the merger.

But Pond questioned whether taxpayers would save any money in the combination.

He noted that such a combination would not substantially reduce the work force involved in county government.

Commissioner Paul Lindsey echoed the Judge's concerns and added a few of his own.

"My first concern is for all the people in Randall County and what would be best for them," he said. "I think there may be ways people of the Panhandle can improve their services by cooperative action, but I don't think that needs to include the combining of courthouses."

Lindsey said he believes a combination of the two counties would cost Randall County taxpayers more in tax money.

"My feeling is that as long as we have the type government we have now which is run by men devoting volunteer time largely, I don't think we can combine the counties and make them so much bigger and requiring more time and get efficiency in government operation," he said. "If we did this, we'd have to go to a more or

City crime equals state '72 statistics

According to figures released this week by the Texas Department of Public Safety, the state-wide crime rate dropped 2.2 per cent in 1972 as compared to 1971.

While the rate of decrease for most crimes was down considerably in the larger cities, the report indicated that cities under 10,000 population, including Canyon, had experienced a slight rise.

For cities between 5,000 and 10,000 people, the rate of increase was 2.4 per cent, and in cities between 2,500 and 5,000, it was a whopping 14.7 per cent.

From records at the Canyon Police Department, it was indicated that Canyon crime had experienced about the same increase shown for other similar size cities.

State-wide, there was a decline in murders, aggravated assaults and thefts . . . with increases in rapes, robberies, and auto thefts. The most drastic increase across the state was burglaries.

In Canyon, there were no

Russ expert will speak at university

Charles "Chip" Bohlen, one of America's top Kremlinologists during the Cold War years, and a ranking diplomat under 10 secretaries of state and six presidents, will speak March 29 at West Texas State University.

His appearance is under auspices of the WTSU Special Programs committee. His lecture on American-Soviet Relations is scheduled at 8 p.m. in the Activities Center ballroom.

Bohlen's retirement in January 1969 from the highest-ranking career position in the Department of State marked the end of an era of U.S. diplomacy in the Cold War. He was one of the last active diplomats of the small handful of Kremlinologists who "helped interpret Russian power plays and shape the U.S. response during the critical post-World War II years."

With two-time U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, Bohlen, according to Newsweek, was "of a passing genre of Soviet affairs experts who successfully mixed hard-headed analysis with great personal involvement."

Gene Howe boy wins spelldown

A sixth grader from Gene Howe Elementary School in South Amarillo outspelled 22 other elementary word wizards to win the Randall County Junior Spelling Bee and then he went on to defeat seven junior high spellers to take top county honors at Canyon Junior High School Thursday.

Terry Rudd, a student of Mrs. Marion Shoemaker at Gene Howe, will represent Randall County when the Golden Spread Bee is held in Amarillo April 28. Should he win there, he would advance to the national championship spelling competition to be held in Washington, D.C. the week of June 11 through 15.

Young Rudd won the Junior Bee over Nancy Glazener, a sixth grader at Rex Reeves, following stiff elementary competition. He won by correctly spelling the word, "psychological" after Miss Glazener had missed on "proximity."

The Junior Bee required some 55 rounds before the number of contestants was reduced to the two finalists. Then, another 13 rounds were gone through before Rudd toppled his tough Rex Reeves competitor.

Only seven of nine eligible contestants from the junior high school took part in the County Bee and only seven rounds were needed to crown the Gene Howe entry as champion. Rudd beat out Nancy Albers, a seventh grader, when he correctly spelled the word, "harass," misspelled by Miss Albers.

Pronouncer for the County Bee was Jim Couzzourt, a graduate teaching assistant from the English Department of West

Gov. Briscoe due here for museum meeting

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe will make his first Panhandle appearance as governor when he speaks April 26 at the evening banquet of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society in Canyon.

The state's top office holder, who began his two-year term of office in January, confirmed he will speak at the 52nd annual banquet last week, according to Boone McClure, executive secretary of the society.

Briscoe is also expected to tour the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum during his visit to Canyon.

The annual banquet will begin at 7 p.m. April 26 and follows an afternoon of meetings for the society at the local museum on the West Texas State University campus.

McClure said about 500 persons are expected to attend the banquet.

Last time a Texas governor spoke at a society banquet was during the terms of John Connally in the mid-1960s.

Speech topic of Gov. Briscoe is unknown.

Activities for the society members begin at 2 p.m. April 26 with an executive committee meeting at the local museum.

A general membership meeting follows at 3 p.m. also in the museum.

State legislators and members of the WTSU board of regents have been invited to attend the evening banquet.

During the afternoon meetings, new officers and members of the executive committee are expected to be elected.

Current president is Virgil Patterson, Amarillo banker. Irwin Ochsner is first vice president, Jay Taylor is second vice president, Mrs. S.B. Whittenburg is recording secretary, and McClure is executive secretary.

A man or a woman?

Sticky problem in WT hiring

The federal government's guidelines on hiring practices at West Texas State University can make for some pretty sticky problems as one professor learned recently.

The professor, a WTSU department head, has had a vacancy on his instructional staff for about three months.

In an effort to fill the position, he went through the various procedures required to advertise for a faculty member and it was determined that he should make every effort to hire a qualified woman to fill the position.

The determination was made on the basis of the federal guidelines which were formally presented WTSU's administrators last summer after a complaint was filed against WTSU alleging the university discriminated against women.

As a result of that complaint WTSU was told by federal Civil Rights Office officials to launch an affirmative-action program, the tenets of which university officials admit are not easily interpreted.

As far as the WTSU department head who talked with The News last week is concerned, the guidelines are causing a reverse-discrimination effect, at least in his case.

He says he'll probably be required to hire a woman with qualifications to fill the vacant position in his department which are fewer than several men who have applied for the position.

The department head said he has had 250 applicants for the job, and fewer than a dozen have been women.

In an effort to ensure that women were given an opportunity to apply for the job, the department head even went so far as to send out 75 letters to supposedly jobless women with qualifications in the department's field.

He received four responses from his letters — two women

Candidate nites to air opinions

Local residents will have two chances to hear the candidates in next month's city and school elections at two separate "Candidate Night" presentations later this month.

The American Association of University Women and the Women's Division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce will present the seven school board candidates March 26.

The Young Republicans, Young Democrats and Student Activities Council at West Texas State University will present the candidates in the city commission and school board election on March 27.

The March 26 Candidates Night will begin at 7 p.m. in the Canyon Community Center. The public is invited to attend.

The two women's groups are sponsoring the meeting for voters to become acquainted with the candidates before the school board election on April 7.

Each candidate for the board will be given five minutes to speak to the audience and then the meeting will be thrown open to questions from the audience for the candidates.

Moderator for the affair will be Mrs. Virginia Cotten of the women's division of the chamber of commerce.

Coffee and cookies will be served.

Mrs. Mary Jane Reeves of AAUW is chairman of the night's activities. She is assisted by Mrs. Shirley Donnell and Mrs. Marion Thompson of the women's division of the chamber and Mrs. Jane Munsell and Dr. Ruth Lowes of AAUW.

The March 27 Candidates Night will begin at 8 p.m. in the ballroom of the University Activities Center.

Each candidate for election to the city commission or the school board will be given a time limit during which he may speak. Following all presentations, the candidates will be open to questions from the audience.

City commission election will be April 3 and school board election will be April 7.

Candidates for the city commission include incumbents Dr. Willis Harrison, local dentist, and Felix Pierce, retired businessman, and Dr. J. Pat Stephens, university professor of government.

Candidates for the school board include incumbents Harold Erwin, farmer and rancher north of the city, and

Our World

Can't Damage Self Without Others Too

By ANN BROWN

"It's my life; I have the right to live it as I please." This theme song of the modern rebel is hardly original. It was immortalized in deathless poetry and prose by John Donne, the arch rebel of the 16th Century.

Donne was the son of a wealthy London merchant. He was educated at both Oxford and Cambridge. He studied law from 1590-1591, but when his father died leaving him a fortune, the boy left school.

The swashbuckling young poet soon became famous for his sharp wit and swinging behavior. Not satisfied with keeping his licentious life private, he insisted on making it the central theme of his writings.

And like all libertines, he was certain the only difference between himself and the "goody-goody" people was that he was "honest." He contended chaste women simply did not exist:

"No where Lives a woman true and fair."
(Song)

Donne insisted unchaste women were his ideal:

"I can love her, and her, and you, and you;
"I can love any, so she be not true."

He jeered at foolish men who dared to expect chastity in their women:

"Alas! some two or three
Poor heretics in love there be,
Which think to stablish dangerous constancy.
But I have told them, 'Since you will be true,
You shall be true to them who're false to you.'"
(The Indifferent)

Then something happened to John Donne: He accepted Jesus Christ as his savior and the Lord of his life. Immediately his tune changed completely.

"Wilt thou forgive that sin which I have won
Others to sin, and made my sins their door?
Wilt thou forgive that sin which I did shun
A year or two, but wallowed in a score?"
(A Hymn to God the Father)

After a long spiritual struggle, Donne was persuaded to become an Anglican minister. He was famed from that day forward for his holy way of life and his intense, passionate religious devotion.

The poetic talent that had glorified immorality and irresponsibility, Donne dedicated to the uplifting of mankind and the glory of God. Inspired, he insisted, by the Holy Spirit, he penned many memorable phrases still popular after some 350 years.

"No man is an island," wrote Donne in 1624, "entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main... Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind, and therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; it tolls for thee."

The drinking drivers who slaughtered some 26,000 travelers on our highways last year probably justified their drinking on the grounds they had the right to do as they pleased with their own lives.

The drug addicts who have turned our cities into asphalt jungles, where they prowl in constant search of prey to support their expensive habits, defend their right to live their own lives.

Women defend abortion on the grounds of right to personal liberty. Advocates of "free" sex use the same argument.

But what about the victims of the drinking drivers, the muggers, the abortions, and the 300,000 illegitimate babies born each year? Have they no rights?

Anyone who wants to do exactly as he pleases should find a deserted island where he could live all alone and no one would question his rights. But the price we pay for the joy of fellowship with other people is giving a little consideration to their rights.

It is literally impossible for anyone to damage himself without damaging others also. Could that be the reason God commanded us to love our neighbors as ourselves?

Because "no man is an island..." he has no right to live in any way that destroys the lives or rights of others. Rebellion against parents and society is also rebellion against God. Parents and society may be permissive, but God is not.

God is merciful, however; and He has the power to change any rebel into a "John Donne" — if the rebel is willing.

Politics And Hot Air

By CARROLL WILSON

Ben Bynum, of course, has had some bad publicity in the Panhandle recently.

The News printed, for example, a story about an abstract of judgement filed against the Amarillo state representative by an Austin printing firm declaring Ben owed them more than $1000.

Then, one of the Amarillo television stations working on a tip from an unnamed source interviewed Ben on a recent car accident in which his vehicle was involved.

That's on the local scene. From the Austin viewpoint, Ben hasn't done really anything much to keep a good image before the Amarillo public. He hasn't done much period.

So, back to Amarillo comes Ben Bynum last Wednesday facing the necessity of getting his name into print and on the tube in some manner if not favorable at least indicating that he's still around and kicking.

And, what does he do? He gets up before a captive audience and expounds to them once more his theory on why Potter and Randall counties should be combined into one big county.

His pronouncements are a lead-pipe cinch to get him on page one of the Amarillo paper and more than a passing note on the 6 o'clock news.

And, his pronouncements are sure not going to make many people in Amarillo mad. If they make people in Randall County or Canyon mad, so what? He doesn't represent us anyway and therefore we can't vote for him.

Bynum's plan is politically motivated and pure and simple hot air.

His plan sounds attractive to Amarillo residents for a couple of reasons: convenience and the foisting of some of their ever-increasing tax load onto Randall County residents.

But, in fact, Bynum's plan would deal another major blow to suffering and staggering downtown Amarillo. Were the Potter County courthouse moved to the Potter-Randall county line, a good bit of impetus which gets people and businesses downtown would be lost to Amarillo.

For Randall County residents even in South Amarillo, Bynum's plan would call for an increase in taxes.

Now, it's obvious that Amarillo attornies like Robert Simpson (who last week supported Bynum's plan) will like Ben's proposal. Obvious, because there are a lot of Amarillo attornies who must drive to Canyon occasionally to do courthouse business and just as a matter of convenience it would be nice to have the courthouse closer to their offices.

But, let me pose a couple of questions.

If Ben Bynum really believed the two counties should be combined wouldn't he introduce a bill or constitutional amendment to that effect in Austin?

Even if Ben Bynum introduced such a bill or amendment, does Ben have the political pull to get it through the legislature? Does he, in fact, have any political pull at all?

When, for gosh sakes, will somebody run against and hopefully defeat soundly Ben Bynum?

There is a big doubt whether Bynum's proposal to combine the counties would, in fact, save any money at all.

In government, the tenet that biggest is best just doesn't work.

Big government always costs more money.

And, big government is less responsive to the people.

Right now is the time for WTSU supporters to ask themselves with all frankness whether the university needs for any reason to have a basketball program.

So far, the assumption has been that the basketball program provides something to the university, something so necessary that the university is willing to spend thousands each year for it.

What exactly does a basketball program at WTSU contribute to the university as a whole?

Can WTSU afford the luxury of a basketball program in a time when enrollment is declining and money is reportedly scarce for other recruiting efforts?

Would it be better to offer 25 full scholarships to worthy students with proven academic abilities in the Panhandle or to students from California and New Jersey with proven athletic abilities? In relation to this, what is the function of WTSU as a university?

I firmly believe the time is rapidly approaching when WTSU will no longer be able to afford varsity athletics.

Now is the time to examine (not just glance at) the needs of the university in relationship to the value of the athletic program.

Absentee Voting Begins Monday

No one has yet voted absentee in the city commission election which is to be held April 3.

Absentee balloting for the Canyon School Board, County Board of School Trustees and South Randall County Hospital District Board begins Monday.

City Clerk Bob Moore said applications are available in his office for local residents wishing to vote absentee in the city commission election.

The election pits incumbent Felix Pierce against Dr. J. Pat Stephens. Incumbent Dr. Willis Harrison is unchallenged for his seat on the commission.

Election for the school board, county school board and hospital board will be April 7.

Absentee balloting is available for the school board and county school board election at the school tax assessor's office in the county courthouse.

Absentee balloting for the hospital election is available at Neblett Hospital.

Seven persons are seeking seats on the local school board. Incumbents Richard Pruett and Harold Erwin seek re-election. They are challenged by Mrs. Pauline Hefley, David Kent, Dr. Wallace Johnston, Dr. J. L. Markham and Dr. Hiram Carr.

Five persons are seeking election to the hospital district board. Incumbents Mrs. Lois Hull, O. H. Rahlfs, Bill Sternenberg and Vernon Harman seek re-election and George Blackwell seeks election.

Confusion still reigns in the county school board election which sees two incumbents and one challenger seeking election. It is not yet known who can or cannot vote for the candidates in the election.

New Brochure Cites Canyon

A new brochure with the title "This is Panhandle Playground" has been issued chambers of commerce in the Panhandle area and includes descriptions of attractions in the Canyon area.

The brochure was prepared by the Panhandle Playground Association of which Canyon is a member.

Attractions listed for Canyon are Palo Duro Canyon State Park, Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum and the musical-drama "TEXAS."

Oklahoma Back To Attend WTSU

Paul Sturdivant, an All-State football player at Moore High School in Oklahoma, has signed a pre-enrollment application with West Texas State University.

The 6-2, 205 pounder rushed for 1,150 yards this past season and was named on the Tulsa World and Daily Oklahoman All-State teams as a fullback. He earned All-State honors as a linebacker on the Oklahoma Journal team.

While rushing for 940 yards as a junior, he earned Honorable Mention All-State. Also, while a junior, he reduced his weight and wrestled in the 168 pound class, compiling a 29-5 record and finishing second in the state meet. As a senior, he wrestled in the 178 pound class, posting an 18-4 record and finishing third in state competition.

The new member of WTSU is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sturdivant of Oklahoma City. His father is a former major league baseball pitcher.

School To Close Early Tuesday

All classes in the Canyon school system will dismiss early Tuesday afternoon, school officials have announced.

Students will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. in order that teachers may hold in-service committee meetings regarding a self-evaluation study now being made in the district's system.

Sifting With Sands

How's That Again?

By JIM SANDS

Ever wonder why facts get twisted around? The following, picked up from Canyon High School, may explain one of the reasons, while at the same time denoting the importance for reporters to be where news is happening and get their information first hand.

SCHOOL COMMUNICATION

The Superintendent issued the following directive at the weekly staff meeting to all principals: "Tomorrow afternoon at approximately 2:00 o'clock, Halley's Comet will be visible in our area, an event which occurs only once every 76 years. Have all students assemble at the football stadium in warm clothing and I will explain this rare phenomenon to them. In case of rain we will not be able to see anything, so assemble the students in the auditorium and I will show a film of this."

The principal to the assistant principal — "By order of the Superintendent, tomorrow at 2:00 p.m. Halley's Comet will appear above the football stadium. If it rains, assemble the students in warm clothing, then move them to the auditorium, where the rare phenomenon will take place, something which occurs only every 76 years."

The assistant principal to counselor — "By order of the Superintendent, in warm clothing at 2:00 p.m. tomorrow Halley's Comet will appear in the auditorium. In case of rain at the football stadium, the Superintendent will give another order, one which occurs every 76 years."

The counselor to the teachers — "Tomorrow at 2:00 p.m. the Superintendent will appear in the auditorium with Halley's Comet, something which happens every 76 years. If it rains, the Superintendent will order the comet into the football field."

Teacher to students — "When it rains tomorrow at 2:00 p.m., the phenomenal 76 year old Mr. Halley, accompanied by the Superintendent, will drive his comet through the football stadium auditorium in his warm clothing."

So what else is new?

Keep Up Good Work

Dear Troy,

We look forward to the News. Having been gone from Canyon just over a year we still like to read all the news. Ann Brown's section is always good, Jim Sands articles are homey. But pictures of people, places and events are always more interesting. Articles and pictures of local people are more interesting than of the college because the student life changes fast enough that it is not news when you do not know the folk being featured. The society and editorial pages are always interesting. Pictures of the square and business district are of interest, especially when they show changes.

Having spent ten years in Canyon we almost felt like we were leaving a part of our family when we left. Friends are not always as easy to make in a large city as they are in a smaller community like Canyon.

We read with great interest the articles about local and county government. Seems like we should make a protest ourself about the Amarillo school district taking part of the county for school taxes. Our three sons having started to school in Canyon and Mrs. Fort having taught there for several years, kinda makes it seem homey.

David reads news of the high school with great interest. Likes to see pictures of the sports and school activities. It was because of his interest in the school that we renewed our subscription for another year. Now we are glad we did. Keep up the good work. We sure enjoy it.

Sincerely,
Earl Fort

Canyon Dames Share Salad Luncheon Recipes

Salad luncheons at the Episcopal University Center have almost become a habit with Canyon Dames, a women's group that includes many newcomers to Canyon.

Their most recent luncheon on Wednesday, March 15, was followed by a tour of Panhandle Plains Museum conducted by Director Boone McClure. They inspected "Old Town," the art galleries, and rooms where paintings are stored.

Mrs. Diane Kasten presided at the luncheon. Others attending included Mrs. Mary Truitt, Mrs. Betsy Grillo, Mrs. Jane Wheeler, Mrs. Anne Bethell, Mrs. Anne Spengler, Mrs. Anita Baldwin, Mrs. Billie R. Clark, Mrs. Jean Magee, Mrs. Janet Hand, Mrs. Donna Cole, Miss Mattie Sue Howell, Mrs. Lou Ann Workman, Mrs. R. B. Ford, Mrs. Marcia Durden, Mrs. Jean Curtsinger, Mrs. Lynn Melber, Mrs. Suzanne Oltjen, Mrs. Jan Smith, Mrs. Betty Fitzner, and Mrs. June Dayen.

Members decided at the March 15 meeting to bring recipes for their salads to future meetings and exchange them.

Several of Canyon Dames' good cooks generously gave their recipes to share with Canyon News readers.

2 eggs

In a 1-quart saucepan melt butter and boiling water. Add flour, celery seed and dash of salt all at once, stirring vigorously. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat until mixture forms a ball and doesn't separate. Add eggs one at a time, and beat vigorously after each until smooth. Spread batter evenly over bottom and sides of greased 9-in. pie plate. Bake in very hot oven, 450 degrees, for 15 min. Reduce oven temperature to 325 degrees and bake 30 minutes longer. Turn off oven and keep door closed for 20 minutes. Remove and cool on rack.

Mr. and Mrs. Crump Mark 57th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roe C. Crump celebrated their 57th Wedding Anniversary yesterday with a few close relatives and friends in the home they share with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conner, 414 Thompson Lane.

The elderly couple was married on St. Patrick's Day in 1916 at Sapulpa, Okla. Mr. Crump was born in 1893 in Hardeman County, Texas, and Mrs. Crump was born in 1883 in Marietta, Ohio. They came to Canyon after his retirement in 1965 from work in the oil fields. Mrs. Crump is now confined to bed and he to the wheelchair most of the time.

Among those who were served cake and punch to mark the occasion were two sisters from Shamrock, Mrs. Maggie Callan and Mrs. Myrtle Rogers.

Asked what he thinks of married life, Mr. Crump replied, "We're just getting used to it now. We've been trying it out now for 57 years, and we think we'll stick it out to the end."

Roe C. and Etta Mae Crump, 414 Thompson Lane, pose for their 57th wedding anniversary portrait. They celebrated the St. Patrick's Day event with a few close relatives and friends.

Baytown Pupils Stage Own "Texas"

The musical production TEXAS is now a household word in Baytown, Texas.

Five third-grade rooms of an elementary school there joined together on March 8 to put on their own 25-minute play based on a TEXAS song book, a script, and a souvenir program sent them by Raymond Raillard, manager.

Raillard has just received a thank-you note from one of the teachers, Doris Teague, enclosing a program and describing the Baytown production. She wrote, "The speakers gave a short and informative history, the dancers performed a square dance and the chorus added to the program with "The Eyes of Texas," "Home on the Range," "The Yellow Rose of Texas," "Deep in the Heart of Texas," and ended with the audience singing "Texas Our Texas."

Singing Debut For Professor Is Next Sunday

Tenor John Marshall Carpenter, assistant professor of music at West Texas State University and a former soloist with the United States Air Force Band, will make his singing debut at the University in a recital scheduled March 25.

Performance time is 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. The recital is free to the public.

Carpenter, 26, a native of Louisville (Ky.), grew up in a music-oriented household, his father being a former student of voice and his mother a church organist. At the age of 12, Carpenter was singing in his church choir, at 15, he was a choir soloist, and at 17, he sang his first professional operatic parts in the Louisville Symphony and the Kentucky Opera Association.

He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in applied voice from the University of Louisville and a Master of Music degree from Catholic University of America at Washington, D.C. He also attended the University of Indiana, where he performed leading roles in several opera productions including Stravinsky's "Canticum Sacrum," Wagner's "Parsifal" and Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte."

With the Kentucky Opera Association, he performed in such productions as Bizet's "Carmen," Verdi's "La Traviata" and Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman."

As soloist in the Air Force Band under the direction of Lt. Col. Arnold D. Gabriel, he toured the Midwest, the South and West Coast, and in fall, 1969, toured Europe. The ensemble performed at the American Music Festival at Carnegie Hall and before two presidents—the late President Lyndon B. Johnson at the White House, and Richard M. Nixon at Kennedy Center in Aug., 1971.

He has been a church soloist in St. Paul's Lutheran Church and Western Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C., and in 1970, performed with the Opera of Washington and the National Symphony.

With the National Symphony, he performed in Cornelius' "Barber of Baghdad" and in a "Lerner and Lowe" concert at Kennedy Center. With the Civic Opera, he did "Princess and the Pea" in which he portrayed the prince.

In April, 1972, he performed in Kovarovic's "Psohlavci" at the Sokol Opera Festival. Portions of that work were scheduled for broadcast over Radio Free Europe and Voice of America.

Programmed for his WTSU performance are Hans Nauwach's "Ach Liebste, lass uns eilen," Joseph Franck's "Der Tod ist mir ein Weg im Leben," Konrad Hurlebusch's "Lob der unempfindlichkeit," Beethoven's "Adelaide," Schubert's "Du bist die ruh," and Mendelssohn's "Gruss."

Also, Brahams' "Wie Melodien ziet es mir," Wolf's "Auf ein altes bild," Strauss' "Dies Bildnis," Beethoven's recitation and aria from "Fidelio," von Weber's aria from "Durch die Waelder," Wagner's "In fernem Land (Lohengrin)" and Strauss' "Falcon scene."

A public reception honoring the artist will be held in the formal lounge of the FAB immediately following the performance.

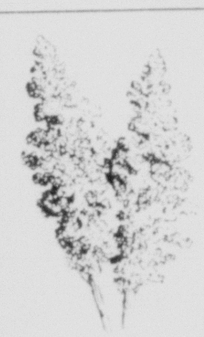
HIGH PLAINS SORGHUM GROWERS PROVE IT PAYS TO PLANT McNAIR


HOW?
THROUGH STANDABILITY & YIELDS!

ARDIS BARTON, Earth, Texas — "McNair 654 and 650 will both have a place in our farming plans in '73! I've planted 654 for two years with good results and I tried 650 for the first time last year. It stood well even after a severe ice storm."

GENE STEELING, Farwell, Texas — "McNair 654 Maize is hard to beat! This is the best I have ever had. It made about 10,500 lbs./acre for me in 1972!"

FLOYD BANISTER, Alton, Texas — "McNair's 895 and 654 hybrids performed well for me in '72 in both yields and standability. These two hybrids are outstanding enough for me to recommend them to my neighbors."

GENE TEMPLETON, Muleshoe, Texas — "After planting 700 acres of McNair 654 in '72, I plan to plant it again in '73—along with McNair 650. This last hybrid looked mighty good in my neighbor's fields last summer."

Miss Keith, Mariner United In Marriage

Miss Beverly Kay Keith and Jerry Wayne Mariner were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony taking place Friday evening at Southlawn Baptist Church in Amarillo. The Rev. James W. Read, pastor, read the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Keith of Route 2, Canyon.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Velma Mariner, 1902 First Ave.

Mrs. Jean Ballard, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. S. A. Decker as she sang More and The Lord's Prayer.

The altar area was decorated with two candelabras and one arched candelabra banked with greenery.

Miss Patricia Anne Keith was maid of honor for her sister. Mrs. Bert Roanhaus was matron of honor, and Miss Penny Griffin was bridesmaid. The attendants all wore floor-length gowns of royal blue satin designed with A-line skirts and long sleeves. Neckline and sleeves were accented with lace trim. Each carried a feathered mum.

Mickey Comer was the best man. Bert Roanhaus and Mike Hines of Amarillo were groomsmen. Ushers were Bill Szydloski and Paul Blake.

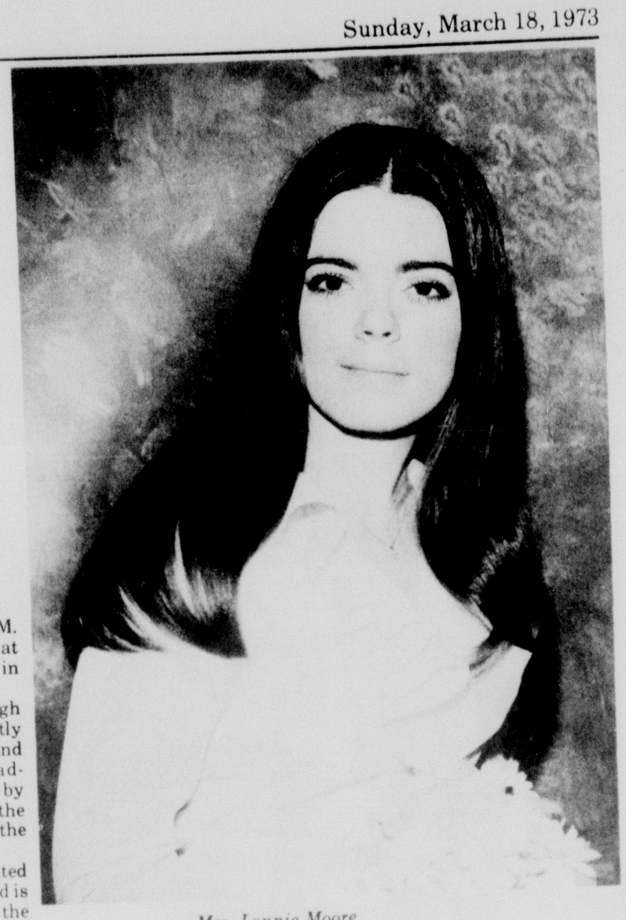
The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal bridal gown of white Angelmist peau de soie and Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta fashioned with high neckline, empire waistline, long Camelot sleeves, and semi-Aline silhouette. Inserts of the Chantilly lace enhanced the neckline, bodice and sleeves. Her mantilla veil of imported illusion with a border of matching Chantilly lace, fell from a lace coif and ended in a sweeping chapel length train. She carried a bouquet of baby white roses and white carnations with royal blue streamers.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with antique satin cloth, was centered with a floral arrangement of white carnations and baby roses. Royal blue candles in silver candle holders stood on each side. Mrs. Randy Stark and Mrs. John Dellis served the traditional wedding cake and punch to guests.

The bride selected a coat and dress ensemble in orange and white to wear as the couple left on a wedding trip for Ute Park, N.M. After March 19 they will be at home at 1953 S. Manhattan in Amarillo.

A graduate of Canyon High School, the bride is presently attending Amarillo College and majoring in business administration. She is employed by Randall County Justice of the Peace W. W. Hancock at the Amarillo Annex.

The bridegroom graduated from Canyon High School and is presently employed by the Amarillo Fire Department and also the Amarillo Fire Extinguisher Service.



Mrs. Lonnie Moore
nee Diane McBrayer

McBrayer-Moore Vows Are Spoken

Miss Diane McBrayer and Lonnie Moore exchanged marriage vows in a ceremony taking place in the bride's home in Lake Tanglewood on Sunday afternoon, March 11.

Dr. Newton J. Robison, minister of the Lake Tanglewood Community Church, read the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jody McBrayer of Lake Tanglewood.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. D. Moore of Amarillo and the late Gene Moore.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length dress of dotted-Swiss sheer fashioned with slim waist, long sleeves, and full skirt bordered with a wide flounce. The V-shaped neckline was also enhanced with a ruffled flounce. Sleeves and hemline were edged with woven trim embroidered with tiny yellow flowers. A white satin ribbon hairpiece and nosegay of yellow and white daisy mums completed her costume.

Miss Denise Wright of Lubbock was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a gown of yellow dotted-Swiss sheer patterned after the bride's. Her hairpiece was of small yellow and white flowers, and yellow satin streamers accented her nosegay.

The best man was Jody Moore, brother of the bridegroom.

Piano selections were played by Mrs. D. D. McBrayer of Lubbock, aunt of the bride.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Canyon High School.

Crounse-Armstrong Vows Are Solemnized

Mrs. Virginia Lee Crounse became the bride of Gerald Marvin Armstrong in a double ring ceremony taking place Saturday evening in the First United Methodist Church. The Rev. J. Frank Peery, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Crounse, 2610 3rd Avenue.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Armstrong of Abilene.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Glenn Dowlen, organist. She accompanied Miss June McFee of Abilene as she sang O Perfect Love, Wedding Prayer, and The Lord's Prayer.

The altar, covered in white satin and framed in an arch of greenery, was surrounded by white candelabra and bouquets of multi-colored spring flowers. The centerpiece for the altar was a gold cross with memory candle and flower arrangement. Aisle seats were decorated with white satin bows.

Miss Dorothy Vermillion of Victoria, Texas, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Payne of Abilene and Miss Sharon Lumry. Mrs. Richard Harren of Amarillo was bridesmatron. Each wearing a different color, the attendants were attired in floor-length gowns of satin with fitted bodice, A-line skirt, and bishop sleeves of lace. Headpieces of lace and satin matched their dresses. They carried bouquets of spring flowers in harmonizing colors, accented with greenery and satin streamers.

Tom Ray of Canyon was best man. Groomsmen were Richard Harren of Amarillo, Stanley Collins of Big Spring, cousin of the groom, and Harry King, Jr., of Lubbock. The ushers included Bill Lumry and the groomsmen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace and satin accented with beaded pearls. The fitted lace bodice was attached to a bouffant skirt with ruffled inset trimmed in Chantilly lace extending down the skirt front. Her full-length mantilla of solid matching lace fell in a chapel-length train. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and stephanotis encircling a white orchid on a bride's Bible. The bride also carried a white lace heirloom handkerchief originally carried in the wedding of her great-aunt for whom the bride is named.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The room was decorated in multi-colored spring flowers. A serving table covered in white satin was centered with bridesmaids' bouquets and candles. The four-tiered wedding cake, topped with hearts and wedding bells, was embellished with lilies of the valley, bells, and hearts in the bride's colors. In the house party were Mrs. Tim Argo of Dallas; Mrs. Jack Rennels of Muleshoe; Mrs. Bob Leveridge of Norman, Okla.; Mrs. Faye Bird of Lubbock; Mrs. Jimmy Marrs and Miss Sue Wiens, of Amarillo; Mrs. R. H. Lumry, Mrs. Jack Downing, Mrs. Emmitt Smith, of Canyon; Mrs. Ned Pilcher, Jr., of Odessa; and Miss Berniece Jones of Abilene.

As the couple left for a wedding trip to the Monarch, Colo., ski area, the bride was wearing a doubleknit coat-dress of white and gold, accented with gold buttons and belt, with bone accessories.

After March 27 the couple will be at home at 2121 N. 6th, No. 105A, Abilene, Texas.

The bride graduated from Canyon High School as valedictorian of her class. She is a special honors graduate of West Texas State University with a B.A. and Texas Tech with an M.A. Her memberships in honor, professional, and social fraternities include Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Chi, Pi Sigma Alpha, Phi Alpha Theta, Pi Gamma Mu, Sigma Tau Delta, Kappa Delta Pi, Delta Kappa Gamma, and Delta Zeta. '73 Budget On Agenda For Council

The 1973-74 budget, ambulance contract, zoning and the bank depository are major items expected to be discussed when the Canyon City Commission meets at the Community Center Monday at 7 p.m.

Regarding the budget for the coming fiscal year, a public hearing will be held Monday night prior to the commission taking action.

In a preliminary budget submitted to the commission two weeks ago, City Manager George Loudder had estimated the cost of running the city government at $824,287, with revenues to total $865,132.

Of the $40,845 surplus, $25,000 was scheduled to be put aside for contingencies, leaving a net surplus of about $15,000. In the more finalized budget proposal to be presented for approval Monday night, it is expected that the total expenditures, revenue and surplus will remain about the same, with the surplus to drip no more than $5,000.

A representative of LaGrone Funeral Home is scheduled to appear before the commission in regard to renewal of the ambulance contract with the city, possibly asking for an increase in the city's share of the ambulance subsidy fee.

The commission is also expected to consider a recommendation made by the city planning and zoning commission that the newly annexed Crow Addition on the eastern edge of Canyon be zoned Single Family-2. The area is currently zoned agriculture, as are all newly annexed areas.

Bids on the installation of a new well at the Umbarger water field, and bids on the city's bank depository are expected to be opened during the Monday night meeting.

Soccer Team Practices For Area Matchups

It's not a sport you'll see listed in Missouri Valley Conference competition booklets.

And, it's not even a sport which draws university funding.

While it draws paltry crowds in Canyon or Lubbock or Denton, it attracts as many as 200,000 spectators for a single game in Brazil.

The sport is soccer, a game of increasing popularity in the world outside the United States, and a handful of foreign students and native Americans have teamed up at West Texas State University to play the game.

More than a dozen die-hard soccer fans form the WTSU team, which has already played one game this season.

The team met Texas Tech's soccer team earlier this month and lost 1-0 on the Tech field.

Tech returned to Canyon for a rematch Saturday.

Other teams on the WTSU schedule this spring are Eastern New Mexico University and the Edelweiss team from Albuquerque, N.M.

The team will also compete in a tournament in Denton in early April against eight other college teams.

Coach Angel Hurtado said although soccer has not exactly caught on in the Southwest, it has enjoyed rapid growth in popularity particularly in the East, Midwest and Far West of the United States.

"There are approximately 500 college and 2,000 secondary school teams playing soccer in the United States," he said.

In contrast to most games played in the U.S., soccer is played primarily with the feet. Other parts of the body, such as the head, chest, abdomen, thighs and shins are also used in the performance of many of the basic skills. Use of hands and arms are prohibited except for the goal keeper.

Like American football, soccer players must kick a ball up and down the length of a field in an attempt to kick the ball through a small goal.

The WTSU team practices at 3 p.m. Sunday, Monday, Thursday and Friday behind Jarrett Hall on the old baseball field on the university campus.

Industry . . .

However, if financing help is needed for industrial development in Canyon, West says various organizations are "standing by to help meet this requirement."

And, West stresses another fact in industrial development — industry will probably not come to you; you must seek it out and convince it to locate in your area.

The main source West sees for new industry for Canyon and the surrounding area is from industry already in the Panhandle.

"Spin-off from current industry is always the best course of future industry," he said. "We're sitting on the coattail of Amarillo. If we get industry it will be with the help of Amarillo. Without their help, it will be difficult to obtain."

West says various groups in Amarillo have pledged to aid Canyon in obtaining spin-off industry from, for example, the recently announced American Smelting and Refining Co. copper plant which is to be in production there in 1975.

But, he's not depending just on spin-off to provide industry for Canyon. West is also actively seeking out potential industries who are looking for a spot to relocate.

The competition is keen. West said there are currently 3000 industries in the country which are looking for relocation spots. A total of 20,000 cities are vying for their attention.

In eyeing these 3000 industries, West is selecting potential industries on the basis of their possibilities for merging with Canyon's assets and resources.

"You've got to obtain the names of industries which are looking to relocate and you've got to study their situation and determine how you can solve their problems and then you go see them," he said. "It boils down to a lot of research and study."

West works on the principle that the best way to win an industry is to know everything possible about them and to be able to tell them why Canyon can help solve their problems.

But, he admits, one man alone cannot attract industry to Canyon.

"We've got to have every possible resource involved," he said, and he's personally making the effort to see that every resource is involved."

Right now, West is optimistic that Canyon will be the site for industrial growth in the not-too-distant future. But, he's reached a point where he must ask himself "where do we go from here?"

For himself, West says he'll stay in touch with Amarillo groups and individuals who are more involved in industrial development with another ear to the ground for possible industries on his own.

"It's somewhat of a waiting game," he said.

When the waiting is over, West is prepared to place Canyon's best in the forefront, to be aggressive and to compete with all resources for any industry looking for a home.

Merger . . .

less manager type county government, which at this time I'm certainly not advocating."

Lindsey said he, like the county judge, believes "the bigger we get the county, the less control is had by the people."

He said he is also concerned about the precedent such a combination of counties might set. He said he can see the day when, with the precedent set, there might be a move to combine three or four or more counties, possibly with the result of the formation of only two or three districts in the state and all government emanating from Austin.

"Before I'd advocate this I'd have to be sold on the idea that all the people would benefit and not just a few politicians," he said. "We have seen in the past what people thought would be a cooperative undertaking and we've seen it snowball to the point that today we can see it almost in danger of getting out of control."

County Commissioner John Fulgenzi was more equivocal in his feelings about consolidation of the counties.

"I say leave it up to the voters," he said. "We need to sit down and study it. I can see certain things for and against."

Fulgenzi would not say whether he favors or does not favor the merger proposal.

"The way I look at it if this is what the people want to do, then do it, but I don't think you'll get the county commissioners in either county to go along with it."

Commissioner Bill Butler said he does not believe any substantial savings will result from a consolidation of the two counties.

He noted that only a handful of jobs would be eliminated while new ones would have to be added.

"There wouldn't be any huge savings," he said. "It just sounds like there would be."

County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen noted that there is currently no statute in Texas law which allows for or mentions the consolidation of counties. He said to effect consolidation would probably take a constitutional amendment.

Expert . . .

Bohlen began his career in the foreign service in 1929 as third Secretary and Vice Counsel at Prague. He has risen through the ranks from Under Secretary of State in 1939, through three ambassadorships to Deputy Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs, and lastly, served as Acting Secretary of State between the time President Nixon took office and the Senate approved the nomination of William P. Rogers as the new Secretary of State.

He was on the scene at the epochal Yalta, Teheran and Potsdam conferences with Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, and at the Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco conferences that founded the United Nations.

He recently completed a book entitled "The Transformation of American Foreign Policy" the objective of which, he says, is "to trace the course of events which led to the transformation of the United States from a safe, protected country, unhampered by involvements in world affairs, into one having many obligations and vast responsibilities in the world."

On Vietnam, he has said that it was American bombing that drew the Soviet Union into heavy involvement "that was not really in the Soviet interest," and added that it was only after the bombing was halted that the Russians felt "free to use any influence they had" to get Hanoi to talk Peace.

Born in Clayton, N.Y. in 1904, Bohlen studied at St. Paul's School and Harvard University, where he majored in modern European history and graduated in 1927. He studied Russian for three years at the Ecole des Langues Orientales in Paris while serving as Third Secretary and Vice Consul to France. He has held ambassadorships to France, the Phillipines, and Russia.

Bohlen received the Rockefeller Public Service Award in 1960 for his outstanding work in the field of foreign affairs. He has also been granted honorary degrees from Michigan State College, Harvard, University, Rockhurst College (Mo.), Wesleyan University (Conn.), and Columbia University. He was the first recipient of the James Biddle Eustis "Franco-American Award" and has been given the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor by the French Government.

Tickets for his WTSU appearance are priced at $2 for adults and $1 for non-WTSU students. WT students, faculty and staff may obtain tickets free of charge with presentation of ID. Tickets go on sale March 15 for WTSU personnel, and on March 22 to the general public in the Activities Center box office said "no" and two submitted applications.

Now, the department head is faced with the sticky situation.

One applicant — a man — has a doctorate from Yale, has pursued post-doctoral work and has an impressive list of scholarly works and articles to his credit.

No woman applicant can meet those qualifications.

So, says the department head, he will probably have to hire the woman and take a teacher with fewer qualifications than he could hire if he could hire a man.

"I'll go along with it," he declared, "but I won't like it."

The department head says he hasn't been told exactly that he must hire a woman, but he says he's been made to understand that that is the university goal.

"If I'd waited two years I probably wouldn't be in this fix," he said.

Dr. Ray Malzahn, WTSU vice president for academic affairs and man-in-charge of the university affirmative action program, said a goal has been set for the particular department to hire a minority member.

Malzahn said the affirmative action program stresses that it does not discriminate in reverse — that is demand that not qualified minority group member be hired over a qualified white male.

It does, however, he said, define "qualified" in a different manner.

For example, he said, the fact that a woman is a woman might make her more qualified than a man for a job on campus simply because as a woman she would bring certain things to the university a man couldn't bring.

"Maybe the women experience, the black experience, the brown experience are something the campus needs," Malzahn said. "It's a relative matter."

Judges were Mrs. Phil Swatzell, Mrs. George Blackwell and Mrs. Kenneth Olsen. Director of the bee in Randall County was Mrs. Chris Thomas.

Young Rudd will also attend a luncheon to honor County Bee and Junior Bee winners. The event will be held on the morning of April 28 just prior to the regional competition.

In Amarillo, the Gene Howe speller will be competing against spellers from portions of Texas, New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Each county winner will receive a trophy and a silver lapel ribbon during ceremonies at the Amarillo meet.

murders, rapes or auto thefts in either of the past two years. All forms of assaults increased from seven in 1971 to 11 in 1972, burglaries stayed the same at 18 for each year, and total thefts dropped from 54 to 51.

Overall, in Canyon, the total number of criminal offenses were up from 272 in 1971 to 282 in 1972, but the rate of arrests improved sharply from 171 to 206.

This 17 per cent increase in the number of cases cleared by arrest was well ahead of the Texas increase average. According to the DPS report, arrest figures for the entire state had risen only one per cent.

The state report said that, based on 1972 figures, one major crime was committed in Texas every minute of the day and night: A murder every five and one-quarter hours; a rape every two and three-quarter hours; and a robbery every half hour. The study said one burglary occurs in Texas every three and three-quarter minutes, an aggravated assault every 15¼ minutes, a theft every two and one-quarter minutes and an auto theft every 13 minutes.

The year 1972 was only the fourth time since DPS figures were begun in the 1940s that the state has shown a decrease in the crime rate.

A nominating committee consisting of Dr. James P. Cornette, Lawrence Hagy, Levi Cole and Newton Harrell has been appointed to nominate new officers and directors.

Current members of the executive committee are Cole, Ed Harrell, James Witherspoon, Charles Woodburn, Joe Pool and Clarence E. Thompson.

Terms up for election this year are Harrell's and Woodburn's.

McClure said current members of the society will be invited to attend the banquet along with guests.

Briscoe was elected Texas governor last November after a slim victory over challenger Henry Grover.

He is a South Texas rancher from Uvalde.

Eagles Drop Tourney Opener At Hereford

The baseball Eagles of Canyon High School were knocked out of contention at the Hereford Tournament Thursday when they dropped a 12-11 decision to the Whitefaces, a team they had beaten during regular season play a week ago.

Canyon was to have played the winner of a Friday consolation game between Borger and Dumas Saturday, having drawn a bye in the consolation round.

The Eagles trailed 1-0 after the first inning but then came back for a 6-1 lead after scoring three times each in the second and third inning.

When the Whitefaces took their turn at bat in the bottom of the third, the roof fell in as they scored ten big runs in the inning. Nine of those ten came after a pop fly was muffed.

Following the miscue by Wayne Pitt, the Hereford nine put together a series of walks and base hits to put the game at 11-6.

The Eagles came back in the sixth to score five more runs which, for a time, tied the score. They used five walks and a pair of doubles, by Pitt and Ronnie Hicks, in the five run outburst.

With the score tied, the Whitefaces managed to push one run, the winning talley, across in the bottom of the fifth. Both teams went scoreless in the seventh and final frame, leaving the Eagles with the first round loss.

Scott Keeling started on the mound for the Eagles before giving away to Steve King during the wild scoring third inning.

Results of the Saturday consolation action will appear in The News on Thursday.

Practice Set For Kids Inc., Track

A total of 117 young boys and girls have now registered for the upcoming Kids Inc., track program, roundup chairman Max Brummett said following a registration period held Thursday at Conner Park.

"We may be able to hold our first races next Saturday," Brummett said.

Practice sessions will be held each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, with competition to be held on each Saturday during the season.

According to Brummett, enough men have been signed up to coach the boys, but one or two more women are needed to assist with girl tracksters.

Young candidates who have not registered will be able to sign up during all of next week by appearing at any of the three practice sessions at the park.

Brummett said that to date 117 youngsters, 80 boys and 44 girls, had signed up to take part in the program. The track events will be open to all elementary school children.

Programmed for performance are Purcell's "Strike the Viol," "Music for a While," "The Knotting Song" and "I'll Sail upon the Dog Star."

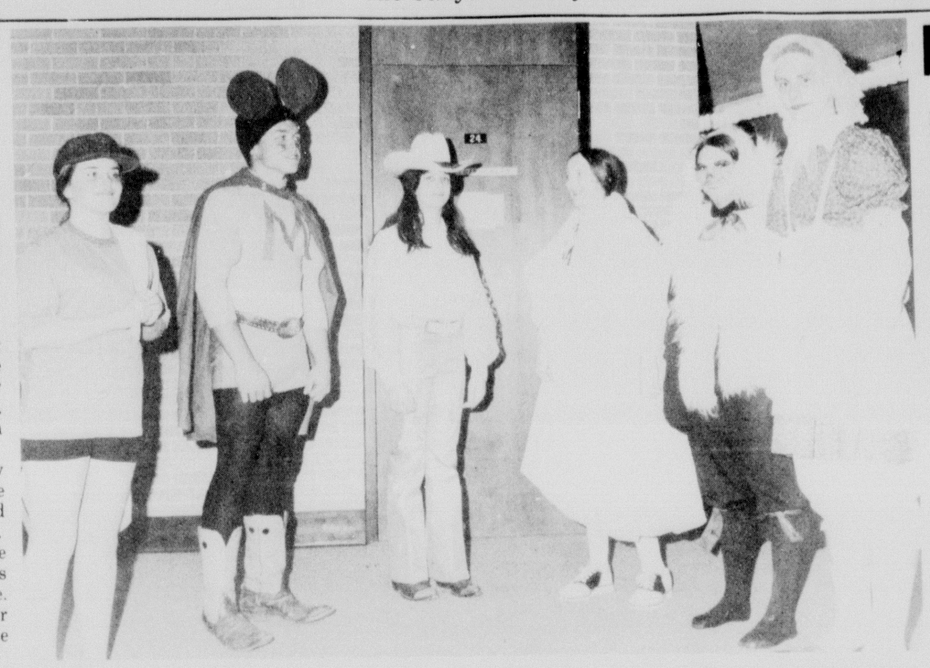
The recital is being presented in partial fulfillment of graduation requirements for the Bachelor of Music Education degree in voice.



Winners of judging during "Fun Day" at Canyon Junior High School Wednesday were Courtney Olson, Elliott Berry, Duane Boyce, Cheri Glenn, Shelley Dozier and Richard McDonald.

Special Film Eyes Conflict And Solution

A full-length movie promoted by various local church groups, Time to Run, will be shown in Canyon April 11-14 at the Varsity Theatre.

Lt. Col. John Childs, who is heading promotion of the film in Canyon, said the movie stars a former West Texas State University student from Amarillo, Randall Carver.

Presented by World Wide Pictures and backed by Evangelist Billy Graham, Time To Run, is a movie about a young man, lost and alone in a busy world who finds himself in Jesus Christ.

Childs said the film portrays the conflict between Jeff Cole, a young college student, and his father, Warren Cole, played by Ed Nelson, a hard-working, technically-minded industrialist.

The screen play for Time To Run was written by Emmy Award winner Allan Sloane. Director Jim Collier is known for his popular films, Two A Penny, For Pete's Sake and His Land, all produced by World Wide Pictures, the film arm of the Billy Graham organization.

Since last month, various Canyon groups have been preparing for the local premier of the movie.

Tickets for the movie are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children at the box office. Advance tickets are $1.

Tickets may be purchased at West Texas State Bank, First National Bank and the University Book Store.

Steering Committee members for the film's showing in Canyon are Childs, executive chairman; Buddy Price, chairman of churches; Gordon Downing, civic club director; Steve Webb, counseling director; Mark Andrews, prayer director; Carroll Wilson, publicity director; Steve Garms, student groups director; J. W. Youngblood, group sales director; Alex Gordon, arrangements director; and Cordell Huddleston, finance director.

Canyon Boxers Lose At Plainview Meet

Four members of the Canyon Boxing Club gained runner-up spots in a boxing tournament held in Plainview, coach Zeke Clement reported Saturday.

In the 125-pound class, Joe Hardison lost Friday night to Bobby Naveras of Plainview and Joe Doss was defeated by Robin Blake of Levelland.

Eddie Don Clement, fighting at 90 pounds, lost to Rickey Martinez of Plainview, and Jeff Gardner, a 65 pounder, lost to Joe Constancio of Dimmitt.

Each of the four had won their bouts on Thursday night.

Another Canyon entrant, 112-pound Floyd Rogers, lost his chance for a runner-up position by losing to Steve Sherman of Lubbock.

Canyon Bands To Present Concert

The Canyon High School Band and the Canyon Junior High School Symphonic Band will present a concert Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium. The time will be 8 p.m.

Selections to be played at the Borger Music Festival Thursday and Friday will be performed, said band director J.W. King.

The high school band will perform at Borger on Thursday evening and the junior high symphonic will appear on Friday morning.

Participation in the Borger festival is in preparation for the two bands' entry in the University Interscholastic League concert and sight reading contest to be held in Amarillo April 11 and 12, King said.

School Woes To Be Eyed By County Mon.

The president of the Wildorado School Board will appear before Randall County commissioners Monday afternoon to discuss recent legislation which would abolish school districts which have fewer than 12 grades in their schools.

Royce Critsinger is expected to seek commissioners' support in a resolution opposing the legislation.

Commissioners, meeting at 1 p.m. in the courthouse, are also expected to consider a resolution prepared by Dist. Atty. George Dowlen concerning legislation to have the state's share in payment of his salary increased from $4000 annually to $15,000 annually.

Dowlen told commissioners last week they are "getting the short end of the stick" in terms of the amount of salary the state pays.

He noted that constitutional district attorneys are paid wholly out of state funds, which he, as a criminal district attorney, is paid only $4,000 in state funds and about $11,000 in county funds.

Jerry LaGrone of LaGrone Funeral Chapel is expected to discuss his ambulance service with commissioners. LaGrone currently furnishes ambulance service in Canyon and the rural areas of Randall County with a fee charged each governmental entity for the service.

Commissioners are expected to consider a resolution calling for the consolidation of the county's bank accounts into fewer bank accounts.

County insurance will be discussed by George Blackwell and Charles Fritch.

Fire Movie Due Showing

A 50-minute documentary film illustrating the problems of fire fighting and prevention will be shown for the general public at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Canyon Community Center.

The film is sponsored locally by Cary Magness of the Hosea Foster Agency in cooperation with the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department.

It is produced by Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. and reportedly portrays fire prevention and fighting problems unknown to the general public.

The showing will be free.

Magness said groups such as the Boy Scouts, civic organizations and school clubs would be interested in viewing the film.

Members of the Canyon Fire Department will serve as hosts for the showing.

News Brief

The board of the South Randall County Hospital District will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Canyon Community Center to discuss revenue bonds and current budget items.

Former Yank Hurler Visits Campus

Tom Sturdivant, retired from professional baseball for almost ten year, still looks as if he could be throwing strikes at major league batters. But on his visit Saturday to the campus of West Texas State University, he was more interested in the future football fortunes of his son, Paul, who had just signed a pre-enrollment application at WTSU.

Sturdivant, whose major league career spanned ten years and seven teams, was accompanied to Canyon by his wife, Reba.

The Sturdivants, from Oklahoma City, were in the film room of the athletic department of WTSU. The former pitcher, best remembered for his days as a New York Yankee, talked to The News about his career.

A native of Oklahoma City, Sturdivant began playing professionally as an infielder with Quincy, Ill., of the Three-I League. After three years at Quincy, he entered the U.S. Air Force where he served almost two years.

Resuming baseball following his discharge in 1952, Sturdivant joined Beaumont of the Texas League for the 1953 season, and was moved to Kansas City of the American Association the next year. While at Beaumont, he had been converted from an infielder to a pitcher.

In 1955, the Oklahoma hurler reported to the Yankees, then managed by Casey Stengel. While a member of the New York American League entry, Sturdivant posted two exceptional seasons, 16-8 in 1956 and 16-6 in 1957. He also appeared in four World Series, 1955, 56, 57 and 58, winning one game and losing none.

The series win was the fourth game of the 1956 classic, coming the day after Don Larsen tossed the only perfect game in series history. "That's my main claim to fame," the still athletic looking Sturdivant said.

Following his four seasons in New York, Sturdivant played with Kansas City, by then a member of the American League, Boston, Washington, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Kansas City again, and finally the Mets of New York City.

During his final active season, with the Mets in 1964, his manager was again the colorful Stengel. "I started out and ended up with Casey," he said.

Sturdivant, branch manager with Feld Truck Leasing Co., in Oklahoma City, said his son had been a good baseball player but had chosen to drop the summer sport some time ago in favor of football. "I guess I wanted him to be a baseball player," the father said.

Mrs. Sturdivant, born in Texas but reared in Oklahoma, lived in Pampa when she was very young.

Both parents said they were pleased that their son had chosen WTSU, a school they had never heard of until recently.

The Sturdivants said they were first contacted by WTSU coach Bobby Thompson, a friend of Mrs. Sturdivant's family, and Paul visited the Canyon campus. "Paul was very impressed with WT. He really liked it," Sturdivant said. He added that his son had visited several other campuses, including larger, better known universities.

"We're real happy with Paul's decision and we are very impressed with the coaching staff and the athletes' opinion of the school," the father said.

"And the hospitality is super," added Mrs. Sturdivant. She said that since her son became interested in attending WT, she had found the university well known and well respected throughout Oklahoma. "It's sure well known in Oklahoma City and everyone recommended that Paul investigate attending."

Cancer Society Plans City Drive

Plans continue for the week-long fund drive in early April by workers for the Randall County unit of the American Cancer Society.

Bennie Cooper is chairman of the county-wide drive and is coordinating efforts for the drive which will kick off in Canyon on April 3.

The advance drive, headed by Lloyd Kurtz, will begin March 26 and end April 31. Dr. T. Paige Carruth heads the West Texas State University drive the same weeks.

Committee members who will be aiding Cooper in the Cancer Society drive are Kurtz, advance chairman; Carruth, WTSU chairman; Carroll Wilson, business chairman; and Mrs. David Hunt, residential chairman.

The Randall County Cancer Society Board met last week and heard Dr. Myron Dees, head of the Physical Education Department at WTSU.

"Increased effort should be made to reach the masses of our people with the same information concerning cancer and its treatment, instead of presenting various types of programs to many small groups," Dees said.

He suggested programs which educational subjects might be directed to service clubs in order to reach large organizations.

Last week's meeting was presided over by Mrs. Ruth Cross, who appointed a nominating committee to present possible nominees for the upcoming board election. Serving on the committee will be Thomas MacOwen, Elsie Higdon and Cooper.

During the board meeting, Miss Allene Stovall reported that four cancer films were shown last week at the University with 85 persons attending. Films are available for viewing by local interested groups.

Accent On The Arts

By JUNE DAYEN

"CARNIVAL," THE WTSU spring musical to be staged April 4-7 and 10-13, is an upcoming event to be marked on your calendar now. All performances are at 8 p.m.

First produced in New York City's Imperial Theatre in 1961 by Gower Champion, it will be put on here in the Branding Iron Theatre under the direction of Royal Brantley of the WTSU Opera Workshop. The opera dramatizes the pathos and comedy in the lives of traveling carnival people.

Leading roles will be taken by Rick Davis, a home-town talent, Linda McNeil, Steve Hilton, and Vicki McFarlin — all veterans of WTSU productions. More about them later.

THE FACULTY PIANO Trio is performing this afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Formed in 1967, this group includes violinist Donald Todd, cellist Michael Matesky, and pianist Nancy Van Hoose.

The three artists all have rich backgrounds in performance and teaching. Miss Van Hoose received the Tovey Award given at the University of Arkansas to the outstanding piano student and was for a time instructor and music coordinator in the Arkansas public schools. Dr. Todd has played with major symphonies throughout the nation and is now principal violinist with the Amarillo Symphony. Matesky is working towards a doctorate in musical arts at the University of Washington — incidentally, he will be conducting the "pit orchestra" for "Carnival."

SENIOR ART STUDENT Linda Pond will be exhibiting her works in the formal lounge of the Fine Arts Building this afternoon also.

Evidently many people were pleased with the works of graduate student Charles McGuire, displayed this past week at the Activities Center. Many were sold in the first few days. Did someone from the English department acquire the copper enamel portrait of "King Lear?"

MARGARET HATHAWAY AND Stephen Haddad, two outstanding music students at WTSU, have announced wedding plans for May 19 in El Paso. She has been a TEXAS cast member for three years, according to Mrs. Margaret Harper, and is now in graduate work. The prospective groom is listed in the college "Who's Who."

THE PALO DURO Porcelain Art Club is having an exhibit and tea beginning at 2 p.m. this afternoon in the Canyon Community Center.

China painting seems to be one of the favorite hobbies of women in this area. There should be many who will want to attend this event.

PETER FOX, JR., Amarillo Little Theatre managing director, is enthusiastic about "Lion in Winter," ALT's new play opening next Friday, March 23, with curtain time at 8:15 p.m.

Leading roles are taken by WTSU students and graduates. Bill Jordan, now a graduate student, plays the eldest son of King Henry II, and Marla Rupp, freshman speech-drama major from Amarillo is cast as the young French princess Alais. Henry II will be played by J. Gary Wyatt and Geoffrey by Forrest Baldwin, both graduates of the WT speech department.

This play about twelfth century England has evening performances scheduled March 23-25 and 30-31. Sunday matinee on March 25 is at 2:30 p.m.

SENIOR RECITALS SCHEDULED this week in the Fine Arts Auditorium: Judy Green, clarinetist, at 4 p.m., Monday afternoon; and Michael Kemp, voice student, 4 p.m. on Wednesday, March 21.

AN ARTS AND Crafts Exhibit will be part of the Top of Texas District Convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs to be held April 6 and 7 at the Activities Center. Club members will be displaying works in several divisions — art, needlework, crafts, and a special division that includes club scrapbooks, toys, and Christmas crafts.

UNIVERSITY WIVES, ETC., Art Interest Group will be seeing a demonstration of copper enameling at 10 a.m., Tuesday morning. Ann Palmer will present the program at "Craft House" in the basement of the Fine Arts Building.

THE RECENT ART exhibit in Canyon Creek Apartments turned out to be a neighborhood affair. Margaret Rawlings, wife of the manager, said that "as visitors discussed the exhibit and enjoyed tea, there were such comments as 'what a nice thing to do' and 'wouldn't it be nice to have a little gallery here permanently.' " A special surprise feature was humorous paintings viewed under a black light which drew youngsters of all ages — who found themselves interested in other pictures as well.

Margaret Luera, left, presents a plaque of appreciation to Dr. John Kahler Tuesday night during a meeting of the El Chicano Club at West Texas State University.

Kahler Honored By El Chicano

A West Texas State University professor of history was honored Thursday night by members of the El Chicano Club on campus for his contribution to their activities.

Dr. John K. Kahler, who was speaker at Thursday night's seminar for the club on Mexico, received a plaque in honor of his efforts from Margaret Luera, vice president of El Chicano.

Dr. Kahler's speech centered around the Spanish efforts at colonization of the New World during the 1400s, 1500s and 1600s and their penetrations into what is now Texas, Florida, Louisiana and California.

He noted the rise in Spanish efforts at exploration north of their original holdings in the Central American area and their rise as a major power in the New World.

He also noted the decline of Spanish influence due to French involvement, a series of wars in Europe and expansion of the United States.

Kahler noted that many of the Spanish explorers penetrations into what is now the United States were due in large part to their desire to find wealth and riches which were reportedly held by Indians, and to their goals of conversion of the Indians to Catholicism.

Calvary Baptists Call Rev. Lewis

The Rev. Derrel Lewis of Kress, Texas, has been called to assume the pastorate of Calvary Baptist Church.

The new minister will be moving to Canyon on March 26 with his wife, Betty Joyce, and two children, Rick, 16, and Derrel Jay, 14. Their daughter Kathy is married and living in California.

Rev. Lewis has been pastor of the First Baptist Church in Kress since 1971. Prior to that he pastored churches in Texas in the towns of Hamlin, Hale Center, Lubbock, and Pampa. He was ordained at Fairview Baptist Church, Jones County, Texas, in 1962 and has been preaching ever since. In addition to pastoring, he has conducted 38 revivals.

The new pastor graduated as valedictorian from Union High School, Brownfield, Texas, and has attended Draughon's Business College, Howard County Junior College, and Hardin-Simmons University. He is currently completing requirements for a Pastor Training Certificate from Southern Baptist Seminary Extension Department.

Now's The Time To Spray Peaches

This is the week to spray peach trees with a combination fungicide and an insecticide, according to County Agent John Brazzil.

"A spray of a combination fungicide and an insecticide just before the blossoms are open will prevent some insect and disease damage to fruit providing we can escape the freezes," Brazzil said.

The county agent said wettable sulphur or Captan mixed in a water solution with Malathion make a good spray for peaches.

Next spray period for peaches will be after most blossoms have fallen from the plants.
